

15th March 1978

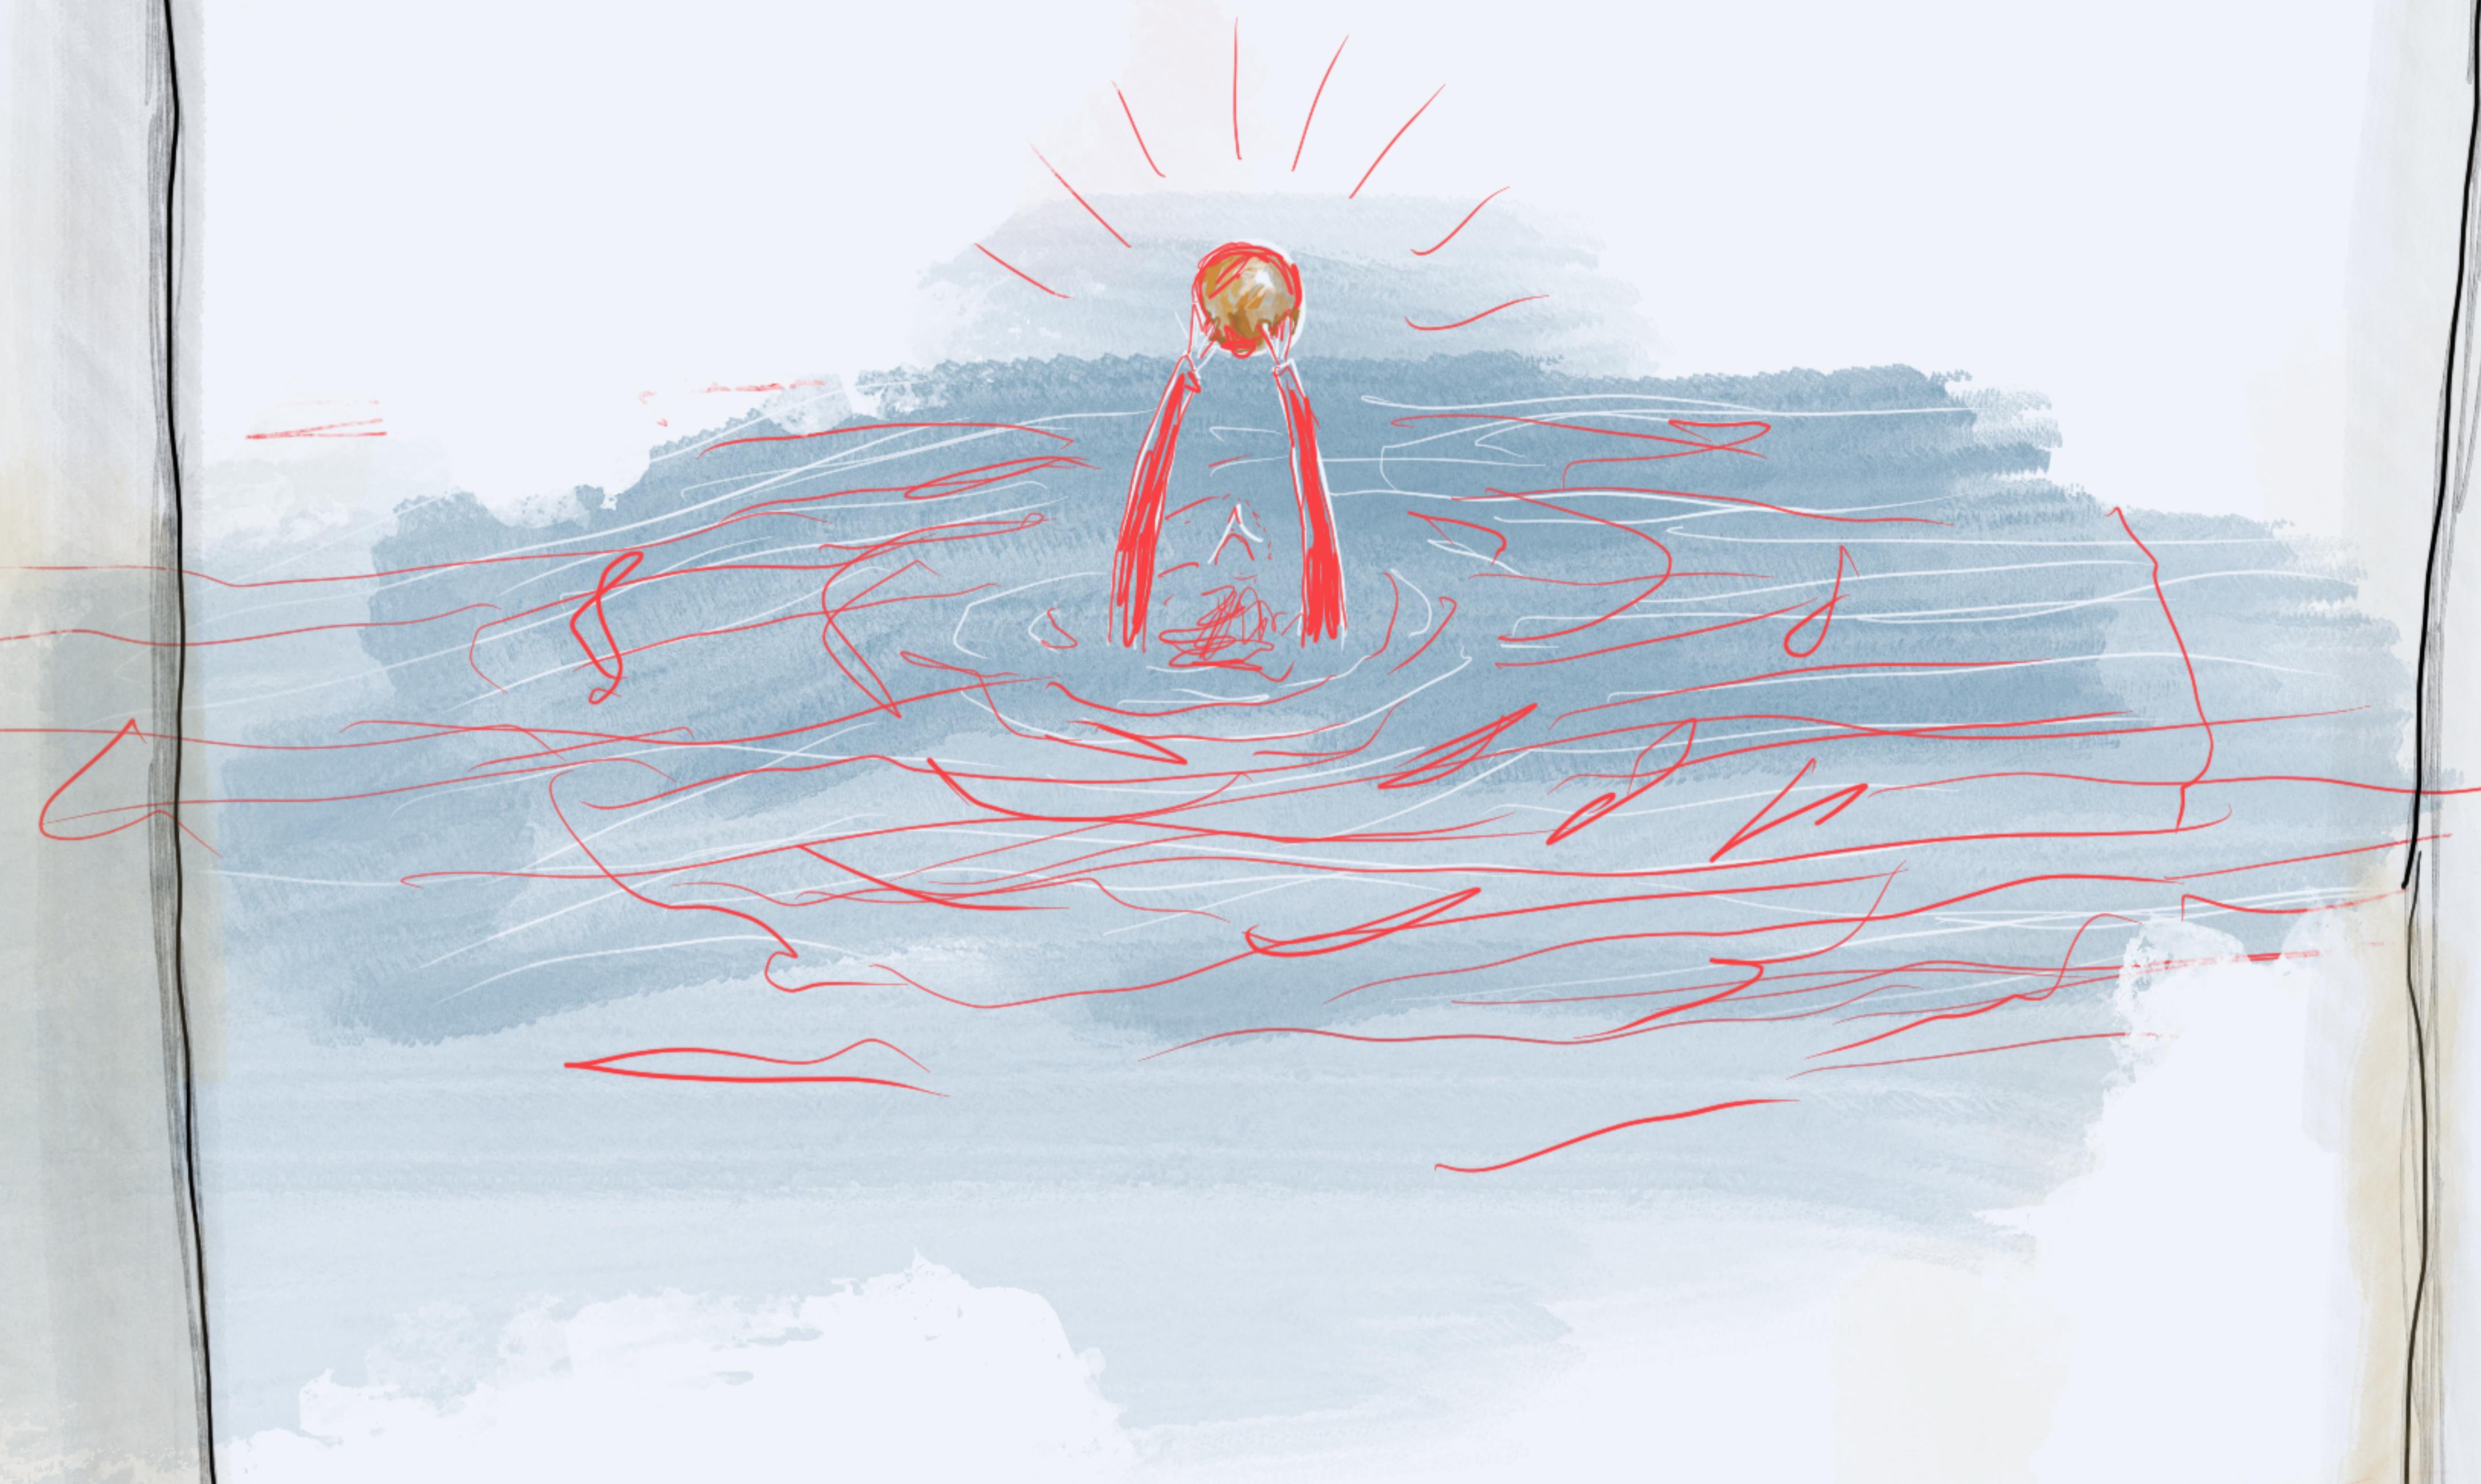

Today I went gold-fishing with my grandpa and my dad, I love being out in the water, it is the best feeling.

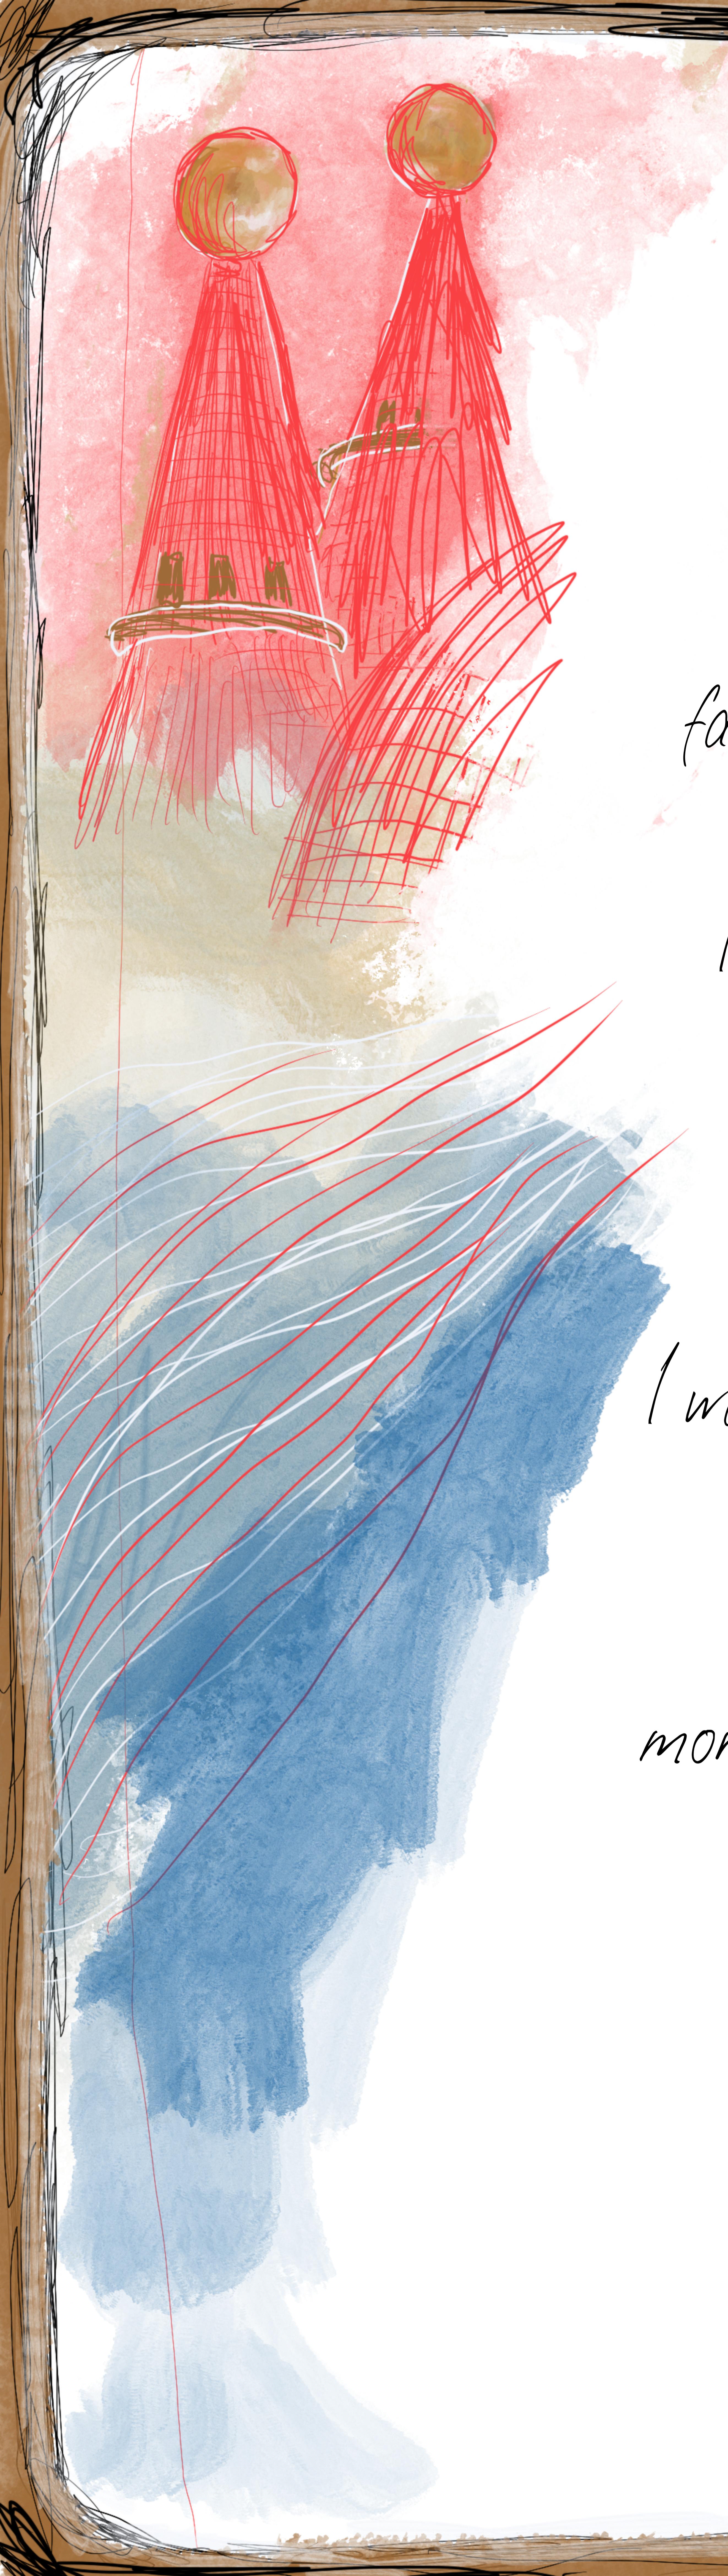

I almost jumped in, I wonder what it would feel like. I wonder what is under there.

I love finding golden spheres for Aurum, but the reason I love it is because I cannot keep away from the water.

Hopefully one day I will be able to explore it. For now, I will stick to dreaming about it.

I am now the only one left of my family who can practice gold-fishing.

It is not as fun to be in charge, you have to be responsible and cannot waste time exploring.

I want to ask for permission to conduct some research on Staghorn, I will present it as an occasion to collect more golden spheres. It seems like that is all that interests Ivar.

He is a sketchy guy.
